By Air: Houston is served by two major airports, George Bush Intercontinental Airport (IAH) and William P. Hobby Airport (HOU). Intercontinental Airport is approximately 50 minutes from the convention center and Hobby Airport is approximately 40 minutes away. Hobby Airport is primarily a Southwest Airlines hub, although a few express flights from other airlines land there as well. Intercontinental Airport is a major national hub and may likely be your destination airport if you're flying into town

By Highway: Access is remarkably easy and convenient. Four interstate highways, including I-45, I-69, I-10, and I-610 intersect in the Houston area. In addition, there are three major toll roads (Hardy, Sam Houston, and Westpark) and three major state highways (290, 288, and 225). The instructions above are for the toll-free route, but the toll roads will save you a bit of time. NOTE: Some tollways are EZ Pass only, so please do not mistakenly use those roadways.
